

Abstract

A wheelchair having two driven wheels and at least one castor which is mounted in a rotatable manner in a fork which can be pivoted about a vertical axis (H), the fork being connected to a steering linkage, is distinguished in that the connection between the fork and the steering linkage is releasable.